Champ Prepares to Defend His Title

Ernie Arthurs Putting Finishing Touches to His Condition for Title Match with Art Stanley of Saskatchewan Who Will Arrive in Edmonton Thursday Morning for Event Friday Night

Art Stanley, of Saskatchewan, challenger to the middleweight wrestling champion of Canada, will arrive in Edmonton Thursday morning for his match with Ernie Arthurs, the present champion, on Friday night. Art has been here since Stanley had a match at Waterloo last night and was unable to do his training because of the heavy reports from Saskatchewan that he is in excellent shape. In a letter while he is having a hard job making weight, he says: "I am doing well, but as he intends taking the middleweight title away from Arthurs if possible."

Stanley is a husky lad of some 145 pounds and has a record which has defeated everyone in Saskatchewan. He comes with an excellent record, having turned his heavy artillery and rat-tail tactics to good account, and up six tallies on the score board. Up to that time it was a close good draw.

The chances of the Temple theatre will be carefully prepared for the match. Present indications are that there will be a large crowd.

The advance demand for tickets for the previous match which was held at the Memorial Hall and which presented a record attendance, a good lot of preliminaries being arranged.

The Bulletin News Service—
The 10th anniversary of the school year has been attended since the past year.

C. J. Jennings of Bowden, Alta., was born on May 20, 1923, the 10th anniversary of the school year.

On the continued rainfall,

the pavilion which was to

was postponed till July 10.

Mr. and Mrs. John Deane, of the Bowden district, all interested in getting a wagon

are working on a

Students of north country wild life are getting along well, though the snow became deep enough to stop travel

throughout the area.

The snow is now melting and the roads are becoming more passable.

There is still a great deal

WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1923

A ONE-SIDED ARGUMENT.

The Calgary Almonian thinks that in the Sydney steel and coal strike force should only be used on one side of it.

When the soldiers arrived the trouble really began. The miners went on strike. The situation was very serious and without doubt largely because of the miners.

The employees of the steel company have been given pay cuts and are working for less and for very long hours. They are not paid well. When they use their more vigorous weapons they already have been beaten by the sports soldiers. The soldiers are imposed ostensibly for the purpose of protecting private property, but in reality they really impose the employer in a labor dispute.

Certainly the protection of his property assists the employer in a labor dispute.

An ordinary and peaceful protection of employer or capitalist would be in the mercy of any enthusiast or "labor party" who could command a can of oil and a match. Unless there is to be efficient protection of property, and of life as well, by lawful force, there is an end to organized society and to civilization as the word is understood.

FAVORABLE CONDITIONS CONTINUE

Following a week of frequent showers Monday and Tuesday of the second week of July were fair and warm. To date there have been no severe storms in any part of the Edmonton district, while the growth of hay and grain have been rapid and without check of any kind. It is agreed on all hands that late August will see the wheat harvest in full swing. Some cutting will be done before that date. The uniformity of favorable reports is a remarkable feature of this season. The showers from July 3rd to 7th caused some apprehensions as to an over supply of moisture. But evidently the ground was able to absorb the whole rainfall, as creeks and swamps are still low. Naturally milk production is at a maximum. It is estimated that in Alberta north of Red Deer the make of butter and cheese amounts to over half a million pounds a week. With the milk and cream supplied to towns and cities the gross weekly value would be not less than $150,000 a week. The estimate of butter is 450,000 pounds a week and of cheese 60,000 pounds. This is a considerable increase over last season at this time due to the more abundant pasture.

FATIGUE FACTION.

The latest number of the U.P.A. in an article under the name of W. T. Lucas, M.P. for Victoria, says:

"Faced as we are on every side by foreign organizations of every business interest, unless we awaken and are prepared to meet organization with organization we might as well give up right now. But remember this, that in so doing we give up our right to be free men."

Accepting Mr. Lucas' statement at its face value it would appear that since the "Progressive" party has been unable to achieve through the unreserved acceptance of party dictatorship. That seems to definitely dispose of the suggestion that the party is founded on or guided by the principles of democracy.

The proper purpose of a political party is to serve the public interest, guided by well understood and accepted principles. It is not merely a debating society, or a means of securing office and salaries for its leaders. It is a body of electors associated in the endeavor to secure governmental action, ostensibly for the benefit of the majority of the people. Such an association based for its objective the special benefit of its members is a faction, not a party. A party is national and constructive. A faction is sectional and therefore disruptive.

It has seemed good to the leaders of the various other organizations to enter the political field as a faction, but under the name of the "Progressive" party. That party has full control of the Alberta legislature; in Manitoba it holds office by a small majority; in Saskatchewan it has almost control with the so-called independent members. Even in Ontario it has had a foothold, as it was in control of the government of Ontario.

It comprises the second group in the House of Commons with a membership so large that it was able to, and as a matter of fact did, compel the government to accept its program on several important issues, such as instance the arbitration bill. The second session of the new parliament has been concluded. The time has come to consider results.

What are the results that have been achieved by the Progressive faction in the Dominion parliament? Have they reduced expenditure, decreased ed taxation; lowered the tariff; improved prices for farm products; reduced transportation costs; cheapened money; pushed railway construction or stopped the exodus; not to say anything of a new start of immigration! All these are matters of vast concern to the country. And on each one the Progressive party has had to offer what it has, namely, the government. But more results, and results, are what the country needs at the present time.

The government has just as good an alibi as has the Progressive party. The government has not been able to effect a sufficient party majority in the House of Commons it was not strong enough to give effect to its policy on the various subjects mentioned. The government was faced from day to day with the possibility of defeat by the united opposition. The government has not been able to maintain itself in its seats in parliament for they must always submit proposals that would satisfy at least two of the three groups or parties in the house. Obviously, continuity of policy and efficiency of administration under such circumstances was impossible. Hence the lack of results.

In the beginning of the session the Progressive party must share the government because by the minority rule not contemplated by the constitution, and the Progressives because having the power by reason of their numbers they used their influence to get the government to do what it wanted in order to secure results in the country.

The record shows further that on the tariff division and other instances they detached a sufficient number of their party to vote with the government rather than risk its defeat, and thereby the possibility of a general election. They co-operated with the Progressives sufficiently to maintain themselves in their seats in parliament but not sufficiently to give the government strength to put through an aggressive policy on any public question.

Armenians and organization are all very well, but properly they are a means, not an end in themselves. Because that idea has been acted upon by the Progressive party in parliament, and because it was not met definitely and courageously by the Liberal government as it should have been, we have the condition of the Senate.

A condition that the senate, acting as a Conservative party organization, has further accentuated by its refusal to permit the construction of National railway branch lines; a policy on which all three groups are agreed. What Canada needs now is a strong government with an aggressive policy, and that is what it can never have so long as the farmers of the West permit themselves to be led into factional organization instead of taking their proper place and exercising their proper function in the organization. Judge by the test of result whether the party of factual organization and endeavor is a failure.

Because of its failure every individual and every interest in the country is suffering as they need not and should not. And of all interests the western cattle producers are the most affected by the "good of the state". The western farmer should lead in making that change.

Current Comment

FACTIONAL OPPOSITION.

Calgary Almonian. The action of the senate in embarrassing the Canadian National railway probably but the first move in the war of position to gain control of the way.

If the Conservative party in the senate keeps blocking any development of the C. N. R. that may made the situation is serious enough. As the Alberta government out of the west, the serious part of the senate work is that the opposition was factional in addition to being partial.

The government put up no fight in the commons and the senate made certain changes to the bill, but the bill was not passed. The opposition had certain objections upon which the senate had to insist. However, the government did nothing in addition to the insistence of the bill and left it at that.

The Alberta government has been the only one to insist on keeping the bill.

Besides laying claim on the bill, the opposition has insisted that Colonel Sam Hunter staff competent, unreliable and unworthy to perform the duties assigned to him.

The committee finds the report regarding Colonel Sam Hunter "not out of keeping with the facts and conclusions shown in the record and none can be attributed to his failure to call for trial." He is not qualified to hold the position he has been given by the government.

The committee finds that he was absolutely ignorant of the duties assigned to him and that he failed to hold his position in the adjutant general's office where he had been placed by the government.

He was not qualified to hold his position in the adjutant general's office under similar circumstances.

Members of the Senate are bitterly condemned for failure of the Senate to pass the measure continuing the Canadian National railway.

Most people know where they are going and what time he ought to get there. Most people know where they are going and what time he ought to get there. The progress they are making is not clear to them.

VEGREVILLE GETS REDUCED TAXATION RATE

Requirements of Municipality Considerably Less This Year—Mill Rate Reduced from 47.8 to 33.

VEGREVILLE, July 10.—A reduction in the municipal tax rate from 47.8 mills in 1927 to 33 mills for the present year has been voted by the total tax being levied this year for all property in the town of Vegreville against a levy in 1927 of $51,826.83 which means that the ratesavers are better off than they were last year, than in the preceding year for municipality.

The rate for public and high school purposes is 22 mills as against 22.7 mills in 1927. The reduction in the total millage is largely the result of the reduction below the margin of safety in the other categories of taxation. It is confidently expected that further slight reductions can be made in the future.

Assessment Increased

Although the total assessments were made in the assessed valuation of property in the town, the assessment was very materially increased largely by reclassification on the rolls of the Assessor.

Every presentation has been taken seriously and the tax rates have been reduced below the margin of safety in the other categories of taxation. It is confidently expected that further slight reductions can be made in the future.

The town has a debt service of $12,000 with a sinking fund of $3,000, to which all due payments have been made.

ARMED OLD-TIMER TAKES THE TRAIL FOR FAR NORTH

Joseph Hodson, the far west rider turned author, who has just returned from a long vacation at the St. James hotel here and is making arrangements for another vacation, has started for the Far North. Hodson first saw the Mackenzie River country in 1904, when he was 16 years old. Ago, when he went out as a messenger boy for the Hudson's Bay Company and was factor at Fort Norman and later became a member of the Northwest Adventures.

He has been with C. M. Whasey and A. Duhay. Mr. Hodson left on Sunday for Lake Louise where he will catch the train to waterways, from where they will travel northward. He will later join the Hudson's Bay Company and was factor at Fort Norman and later became a member of the Northwest Adventures.

The return of H. M. has power to have him appointed to the command of one of the trail riders, other than his son, who has now entered the ranks except with spear and shield. He has been a hard-hunting grizzly bear on the Barren Grounds, and has seen many wolves to know the north when it was torn through, but very few men have been lost in addition to his son. An excellent memory he possesses and has written a book on the trail furnished the Bulletin with manuscript notes which will appear in the paper at a later date.

A long time ago he was in every old town between McMurray and the Peace River, and has been away for several years from the far country since that he has spoken in addition to his son. He has been a member of the Northwest Adventures, and has been to the winter winds while across the barren grounds, and has been because of his achievements and is regarded as one of the most skilled soldiers by the country he wears.
